

Moonlight

The diurnal animals scurry away,
To wait for the bright light of day
The moon reflects onto the shimmering lake,
As the nocturnal animals awake.

The sparkling moon will glimmer,
As the glistening sea will shimmer
Up is the moon at an unbelievable height,
As she wakes up in the middle of the night.

Twit Twoo sings the owl,
As the night wolves howl
Foxes emerge from their den,
In hunt for a snoozing hen.

Owls, cosy in their trees
As they sway in the cold breeze
The moon will stare guarding these animals
Watching carefully at these mammals.

Swans swim cheerily round,
As ducks watch from the ground
Splash goes the sea as it hits the shore,
Flying eagles will soar.

The birds, cosy in their nests,
That's why they like the moon the best.
